PREFACE.

ANGLO-SAXON was spoken by our forefathers in England for more than five hundred years; from it have sprung the greater part of our I cal and family names, very many of our old, and almost all our provincial words and sayings, and fifteen twentieths of what we daily think, and speak, and write. No Englishman therefore altogether ignorant of Anglo-Saxon can have a thorough knowledge of his own mother-tongue, while the language itself, to say nothing of the many valuable and interesting works progression, and grammatical precision, vie with modern German

The present object is to furnish the learner, if it may be, with a cheaper, casier, more comprehensive, and not less trustworthy guide to this tongue than may hitherto have been within his reach

The first six chapters are mainly abildged from the Grammar of the late Professor Rask of Copenhagen, as edited by Mr. Thorpe, whom the compiler has to thank for leave to make use of his praiseworthy labours, and for obliging answers to queries

^{*} See Thorpe's Advertisement to Rask's Grammar

ער אַריביית מיידר איידר איידר

Some alterations and additions seemed called for by the progress of the study since the publication of that work, whence its improved cultivation in this country must be dated. Illustrations from the kindred new Teutonic dialects German and Dutch, with some from Greek and Latin, old and provincial English &c. have taken the place of the Scandinavian* references as fitter for the English learner. A view, however narrow and imperfect, of languages more or less nearly akin, can hardly fail, it is hoped, to awaken in the understanding student, a wish to know something more of comparative philology, hitherto so unworthly slighted among ourselves, and so laboriously and skilfully worked out by the German's.

The hyphen is used throughout to divide the parts of compout dwords from each other, as also prefixes, and when needful, case-endings and other terminations, from roots; in this as in other tongues the beginner must accustom himself to parse not only every word in a phrase, but every syllable in a word

Some rules for gender have been attempted, and a list of exceptions to the general rule of its agreement with the German, together with comparative tables of the cardinal numbers, and of the chief tenses, are added.

The accent, sometimes misplaced or left out by Rask, and too often altogether neglected by others, has been carefully attended to.

Some acquaintance with Icelandic and the other old northern tongues, above all Gothic, which shows the originals of the A. S. inflections, quantity &c., is of course needful for a perfect knowledge of Anglo-Saxon.

The Syntax is in great part new; the examples mostly gathered from the compiler's own reading.

The Extrects in prose and verse are fitted by explanatory notes for use without a dictionary, an analysis of the narrative verse, partly shortened from Rask, and a literal version of the poetry, are also given. The purpose here being to teach pure Anglo-Saxon only the selections are all from writers of a good age; one well grounded in the language in its perfect state, will not find it hard to bring down his knowledge of his native tongue, through Semi-Saxon, and old and middle l'inglish, to our own time.

The Appendix contains lists of words likely to be confounded by learners, together with a number of additional notes. For the length to which the latter have run some apology may be needed, but it seemed best not to lose the opportunity of bringing in, however irregularly, some matter which may be useful

To Mr. J. M. Kemble, Editor of Beówulf &c., who shares with Mr. Thorpe the honour of making his countrymen independent of foreigners for a right knowledge of their old national language and literature, sincere thanks are due for much very kind, and most valuable help and advice touching the accent, gender, and other hard and weighty points, on which opinions from such an authority cannot be too highly prized. Obliging hints, and the loan of scarce books from other quarters, must also be thankfully acknowledged.

The compiler leeling what scanty justice has been done to these various and welcome aids, must add that for those faults both of doing, and of leaving undone, which he cannot hope to have avoided, he alone has to answer. Should this imperfect attempt however, by making the speech of the Anglo-Saxons somewhat easier and more attractive than heretofore to their children, give any of these a better knowledge of the real structur, and true spirit, and a greater love for the power and worth of that tongue, which bids fair one day to overspread the whole earth, some time and moour will not have been spent in vain.

ANGLO-SAXON TONGUE.

CHAPTER I.

SECT. I .- The Alphabet, &c.

The A. S. letters are 24, viz.

A	a	[A]	N	n
В	b		P	p
C	c	[C]	\mathbf{R}	r	[n]
D	d	[b]	S	8	[r]
\mathbf{E}	е	[e]	\mathbf{T}	t	[៦]
F	f	[f]	U	u
G	g	[Б Հ]	\mathbf{w}	W	LP Pp]
H	h	[ħ Þ]	X	X	J
I	i		* Y	y
L	1		þ	þ
M	m	[00]	Ð	đ

The characters between brackets were written by the Anglo-Saxons, but being for the most part mere corruptions of the Roman forms are now seldom printed.

In later times k was used for c; v and z occur in foreign names only. The abbreviations J for and, B for L at the, that, and others were in use; in general – shows that m or n is left out

II .- Accent.

The accent (') over a vowel shows it to be long. The A. S. accented vowels are mostly long by nature; as, lar lore (G. lehre), ber bier (G. bahre), gren green (G grun), wid wide (G. weit), g o d good (G. gut), rúm room, space (G. raum), fýr fire (G. feuer). Some have become long by contraction, g, h, ng, or n, being left out, as, smeagan, smeán to consider, sleahan, slean to slay, gangan, gan to go, fangan, fon lu take: in fif five, tod tooth, mud mouth, and the like, the kindred tongues show the omitted n, as, meure, L. quinque, G. funt; ο-δους, ο-δουτ-ος, L. dens,(1) G, zahn; G. mund: a few from the omission of a vowel, as, tae, tá toe. From the examples above and below, it will be seen that in English a long or double vowel, and in German a long or double vowel, or diphthong, commonly answers to an A. S. long or accented vowel, while short vowelin general correspond in like manner. The accent serves at the same time, though never used for that purpose merely, to distinguish many words of like spelling but different meaning and sound, as, ac but, ac oak, in sest must, mest most; wende turned, went, wende weened, is is, is ice; for for, for journey; ful full, ^{(&#}x27;) In A. S. as in Greek, ns does not occur in the same syllable.

ful foul; hyrde herd, heeper, hýrde heard.(2) With out due attention therefore to the accent, A. S. cannot be rightly written, pronounced, nor understood.(3)

III.—Pronunciation.

The pronunciation is as follows:-

a has the sound of our a in ah, F. &c. short a.

á is longer and broader, like G. &c. long a, approaching our au and aw.

au and aw sound nearly like ow in now, but more open, like G. and Italian uu.

æ is pronounced like a in glad.

é nearly as a in dare; G. eh; F. close é.

e sounds like e in send, rather, when thus placed; before a consonant followed by a vowel it resembles the ea in bear, but is shorter, like F. open e. Before a or o it sounds as g; at the end of a syllable it is very lightly sounded, like the F. unaccented e, or the G. e final.

é is pronounced like é.

i and y answer to i in dim.

i before another vowel to y.

í an dý to ee in deem.

o to short o in not; F. open o.

ó to long o in note; F. close 6.

ow is sounded as ow in now.

- (*) Comp. G. mast, meist; wandte, wähnte 'itt, eis; fasfuhr, voll, laul, hirt, horte.
- (3) The more advanced student will find comparison with the Gothic and other ancient dialects the guide to the A. S. quantity.

u as u in full.

u as oo in fool.

The consonants are pronounced as in English, with the following exceptions:—

c is always hard like h, cw stands for qu, which was however used in later times f between two vowels, or at the end of a syllable, sounds like n.

g is never soft; when placed however between two of the vowels æ, e, i, or y, or at the beginning of a syllable before e or i, followed by another vowel, it has the sound of y.(1) cg i- usually written for gg.

h is always strongly aspirated; at the end of a syllable or before a hard consonant it is guttural, like the G. ch, the S. ch in loch, and the Irish gh in lough.

hw anwers to our uh; h occurs also before l, n and r. w sometimes, as in E., stands before r; likewise before l.

b (tha) is our hard th, as in thing.

d (eth) our soft th, as in other.

p usually begins, & ends a syllable, but they were and are often confounded.

IV.—Spelling.

The A. S. spelling was very variable, the following arethe commonest changes:-- á - æ and æ - á; þám, þæm; þære, þare.

¹ It is likely that g before e or 1, and (like h) at the end of a syllable, was guiturel, as it often is in German, and always in Dutch.

a - ea; waldan, wealdan to wield, rule.

a - o and o - a; man, mon (2) man; on, an on.

ea — e and e — a; ceaster, cester (3) toun; fela, feala many; eá — é, teáh, téh diew.

i - y, eo; hit, hyt it: him, heom them.

í - ý, íe, eó; hí, hý, híe, heo they.

eo --- u, y, e; sweord, swurd sword; seolf, sylf, self self.

eó - ú, ý; sweótol, swútol, swýtol manifest.

g - h; sorg, sorh care, sorrow.

ng, nc, ngc, sang, sanc, sangc song: n and g are often transposed. &c.; pegen, pegn, peng, pen servant, thane: g is sometimes added or cast off at the end of a word; as, hwý, hwýg why? hefig, hefi heavy: it is often left out before d or d; mægden, mæden maiden, mægd, mæd tribe es, sc, hs, x; ácsian, áscian, áhsian, áxian to ask(ax).

V .- Change of Letters.

Other changes of letters take place in inflection and derivation; the German synonyms often undergo the like, the English sometimes a is changed into æ, and vice verst; grafan to grave, (G. graben); þú græfst thou gravest, (G. du grabst);

^(*) P. mon for man, lang for long, and the like.

⁽³⁾ L. castra; hence Chester, -cester, &c. in local names.

⁽⁴⁾ See also nouns 11. 2, and pregular comparison.

berd bath, (G. bad); badu bath: (G. bäder.)(1) a into e; man, man (G. mann); men (2) men (G. manner).

à into &; hal hale, whole, ge-hælan to heal.

ea into e or y; neah nigh, nehst nyhst nighest, next.

e, o, eo, u into i or y; ren rain, rinan to rain; storm storm (G. sturm); styrman to storm (G. stürmen); weorc work (G. werk), wyrcan to work (G. wirken); hunger hunger, hyngrian to hunger.

eá, eó, ú, into ý; leás loose, (G. los); a-lýsan to re-lease (G. er-losen); neód need (G. noth); nýdan to force (G. nothigen); scrúd shroud, scrýdan to shroud.

ó into é; dóm doom, déman to deem, doom.

bb into f; a-hebban to exalt, a-hafen exalted (4).

c and cc into h; sécan to seek, ic sohte I sought; feccan to fetch, (ge-)freht fretcht(5) g into h and vice versa; wrigan to cover, ic wrah I covered; beorh mountain, plur. beorgas(6).

s into r(7); freúsan to freeze, (ge-)froren frozen.

đinto d(8); sniđan to cut (G. schneiden), sniden cut (G ge-schnitten).

Several other changes take place in the formation of imperfects I. 3. and complex; likewise in nouns II. 2., III. 1 3. and in adjectives.

VI.—Correspondence of Letters.

Attention to the correspondence of A. S with English and German letters helps not only to recognise words already known in a kindred tongue, but to settle their derivation, spelling, and quantity. Thus—á answers to E. long o, G ei, l. e; ban (9) bone, G. bein; máre (10) more, greater, G. mehr.

eá to E. l. e; G. l. o, a au: streám stream, G. strom; sceáp sheep, G. schaf; ge-leáfa be-lief, G. g-laube.

ea to E. short a, l.o; G. s. a: scearp sharp, G. scharf; ceald cold, G. kalt.

æ to E and G a, e: gæst guest, G. gast; fæst fast, G fest.

é to E. l e, a, o; G. l a, ei: séd seed, G. saat; hér hun, G. haar; mést(11) most, G. meist.

é to E. l. e; G. l. u, a: céne bold, keen, G. kuhn; wénan to ween, imagine, G. wahnen.

í to E. l. i; G. ei: síde side, G seite.

eo to E. a, o, u, e; G. e, ie: deorc dark, sweord swora, G. schwert; ceorl churl, G. kerl; feoll fell, G. fiel ó to E. 00; G. l. u: flór floor, G. flur.

eó, eów to E. l. e; G. l. ie, eu: deóp deep, G. tier; deór dear, G. theuer; cneów knee, G. knie.

ú to E. ou, ow, oo; G. l. au, u: mús mouse, G. maus; cú cow, G. kuh; rúm room, space, G. raum.

(*) B. bane.

(19) 8. mair.

(11) S. maust.

ý to E. l. i, e; G l. eu, an, o: fýr fire, G. feuer; brýd bride, G. braut. hýran to hear, G. honen c (before a soft vowel) to E. and G. cn, k: cyle chill, G. kuhle; stician to stick, G. stechen.

cc to E. tch, ck; G. ck: streccan to stretch, G strecken; liccian to lick, G. lecken.

sc to E. sh, sk; G. sch: scyld shield, G. schild; disc dish, table, G. tisch; tusc tush.

g (before a soft vowel sometimes) to E. y, G. j: gear year, G jahr, gustan-dæg yester-day.

r and s are often transposed: forst frost, G. frost bridd (young) bird, flacse flack, G flasene.

CHAPTER II.

1 .- Nouns. Gender.

The genders, as in Greek, Latin, German, &c. are three, viz. neuter, masculine, feminine; the first two, ar in those tongues, closely resembling each other, the last differing widely from both. A. S. nouns in general agree in gender with the corresponding German; as,

Masculine: mona G. mond moon.

Femmine: sunue G. sonne sun.

The chief exceptions are: -

Neut. ear G. ahre

(f.) ear of corn.

- fæsten G, feste

(f.) fastness.

- fyder G. feder

(f.) feather, wing.

Neut.	mód	G.	muth	(m.)	mind, mood.

	ge sýhđ	G.	ge-sicht	(n_{\bullet})	sıght.
-	turf	G.	torf	(n.)	turf.

Moreover, all A. S. nouns ending in -dóm, -hád, and -scipe are masculine, while G. nouns in -thum are some neuter, some masculine, in -heit and -schaft feminine; A S in -nes (-nys, -nis) feminine, G. in -niss some neuter, some feminine.

wiht

G. wicht (m.) uight, being.

Some words are of more than one gender; thus flod(5) flood is neut. (II. 1.) and masc. (II 2.); see sea masc. (II. 2.) and fem. (I. 3.); bend band, bond masc. (II. 2.) and fem. (II. 3.); lác gift, office, &c. all three (II. 1. 2. 3.), but oftenest neuter.

- (') Oiv-og masc. L. vin-um, neut. (2) L. mare, neut.

- (5) G. fluth fem.; see mase and fem., bund neut and masc.

FURTHER RULES FOR GENDER.

- I. Nouns ending in -tl, -ed, -incle, and diminutives in -en; likewise all having the nominative and accusative alike in both numbers are neuter.
- II. Nouns in -a, -m, -ls, -ad, -od. -e (from verbs) and -ling; likewise all forming the gentive singular in -a, or the nominative plural in -as are masculine.
- III. Nouns in -æd, -ud, -d (after a consonant) -eo, -u (of quality from adjectives) -e (from adjectives) -ung. and -least are feminine.
- IV. The gender of compound words depends on that of the last part; thus wif-man woman is masculine. (*)

II .- Declension.

Nouns are divided into two Orders, the Simple and the Complex,(2) the former having one Declension of three Classes for the three Cenders, the latter two Declensions of three Classes each(3).

The Simple Order, answering to the Greek and Latin pure rouns, contains those ending in an essential vowel; viz. -e in the neuter, -a in the masculine, and -e in the feminine. The Complex Order, answering to the Gr and L. impure nouns, comprises all ending in a consonant, together wif some in an unessential -e or -u.

⁽¹⁾ By the same rule G. frauen-zimmer female is neut., manns-person man fem

⁽³⁾ In Grimm's system Simple Nouns are called weak; Complex, strong.

⁽³⁾ For the grounds of this division, see Rask's Grammar, pp. 26-30

RULES FOR DECLENSION.

- I. All Nouns have the nominative and accusative alike in the plural.
- Il All Nouns form the ablative and dative plural in -um, often changed to -on, and sometimes again to -an.
- III. The ablative and dative are always alike in each number
- IV. Neuters, as in Greek, Latin, and German, have the nominative and accusative alike in each number.
- V. Feminines vary the nominative and accusative singular, but form the ablative, dative, and genitive singular alike.
- VI. The Simple Order forms its genitive plural in -ena, the Complex in -a. (1)

III.—Simple Order, or Declension I.

The First Declension contains a few neuters ending in -e, all masculmes in -a, and all feminines in -e; the nominative plural is formed in an (2) The three Classes are so much alike that they may be shown at one view.

⁽⁾ Participial nouns form it in -ra (see II. 2.) like indefinite adjectives. Complex feminines (II. 3. and III. 3.) sometimes have a Simple gen. plural.

⁽²⁾ G. nouns forming their plur. in -en (-n) are Simple, all others Complex.

Examples eige eye, steorra stur, tunge tonque.

Participial nouns in -end usually have the nominative and accusative sing. and plur alike, and make -ra in the gen. plural Freond friend, and feond foe, fiend have plur. frénd, fénd, freónd, feónd, or freóndas &c. Dissyllables in -el (-ol), -en (-on), and -er (-or) are contracted in the oblique cases and plural; thus engel angel, dryhten lord, ealdor prince, make engle, engles, englas &c. dryhtne &c. Heofen (-on) heaven has abl. and dat, heofene, heofone, or heofne and so on. Monad (mond) month forms monde &c. Winter winter has abl and dat. wintra, nom. pl. wintras, or winter. Feld field, ford ford, and sumer (-or) summer make abl. and dat. felda, forda, sumera.

Dissyllables in -el (-ol), -en, -er (-or), are contracted in the oblique cases, and often in all; as, sáwl, wyln, frófr. A single final consonant after a short vowel is doubled; as syn sin, accus. &c synne. The gen. plur is sometimes in -ena. Nouns in -ung sometime- form the abl. and dat. in -a. Hand hand, makes accus. hand, abl. and dat. handa. Miht might, tid time, tide, woruld world, have the accus. like the nom., woruld sometimes makes gen. worldes. (1) Niht might, and with wight remain unchanged in the accus. singular, and nom. plural.

VII.—Declension III.

CLASS I.

The Third Declension, first Class, contains all complex neuters in -e, all in -u, all neuter dissyllables in er (-or), -el (-ol), and -en, some in ed (-od), and many monosyllables in a consonant. The plural is in -u (-o), often changed to -a; some monosyllables change æ, and a few ea, into a in the plural.

Dissyllables are mostly contracted; thus, heafod head, tacen tohen, wunder wonder, make heafde, heafdes &c. tacne, wundre &c.; nyten beast, neat, weofod altar, &c. are usually not. Those in -en sometimes double the n in the oblique cases; as, westen desert, westenne &c Cild child, cealf calf, and æg egg, form their plural cildru (-a) (3), cealfru, ægru, the first however often has cild or cilde. Pystru dar kness, lendenu loins, &c. have no singular. Nouns in -u take w, and are usually contracted, forming the plural in a, as, searu array, ambush, searwe, searwes &c.

VIII.—CLASS II.

The Third Declension, second Class, comprises masculines in -u (-o), forming their plural in -a, some irregulars (masc. and fem.) in -er (-or), changing their vowel in the ablative and dative, and making -u (-o, -a) in the plural, a few (masc.) changing their vowel as above, and in the nominative and accusative plural, &c.

Mænigeo (-u) many, multitude, yldo age, eld, brædo breadth, and some others in-o are mire mable, except abl. and dat. plur. mænigum Duru door makes abl. and dat. sing. dura. Collectives in -waru, as burh-waru town's-folk, form plur. -waie, gen. -wara or -warena. Mús monse, lús louse, cú cow, gós goose, bróc breeches, follow bóc, making plur. mýs mice, lýs lice, cý hye, gés (1) geese, bréc. Cú sometimes has gen. sing cús, (2) gen plur. cúna. Turf turf, and furh furrow, follow burh, making tyrf, &c.

CHAPTER III.

I.—Adjectives

As in German &c. have a Definite and an Indefinite inflection: the former is used when the adjective is preceded by the definite article, by any other demonstrative, or by a possessive pronoun; the latter always else. There are three Declensions, one for the Definite form, agreeing closely with the Simple Order, two for the In-

This declension is used for all adjectives, participles, and pronouns in general; participles present however take -1 a instead of -ena in the genitive plural. Monosyllables commonly change æ to a throughout; as, smæl small, þæt smale, se smala, seó smale the small, and so on. Adjectives in -h, as heáh high, usually change it to g when the case-ending is a vowel, as, þæt heág-e, &c; otherwise the h is dropt; as, abl. &c. heán. Those in -u (-o), as near-u narrow, take w throughout; as, þæt near-we, &c (*)

Thus are declined monosyllables with æ (except fæst) &c., most adjectives with derived endings, and participles past of the Complex Order; some of both the latter, however, follow Declension I. As, læt late, slow, swær heavy, glæd glad, bær hare, swés sweet, dear, til good, ead-ig blessed, prosperous, fær-lic sudden, dangerous, ge-sib-sum peaceable, mæg-er meagre, hlutt-or clear, fæg-en glad, fain. Some dissyllables are contracted in certain forms, as, hal-ig holy, hal-ge, hal-ges, &c., but gen. plur. hal-igra and the like.

V.—Comparison.

The Comparative and Superlative Degrees are regularly formed by adding -or and -ost (1), (E. and G. -er and -est), to the indefinite form; as, leof, leof-or, leof-ost dear, dear-er, dear-est (G. lieb, lieb-er, lieb-est): æ usually becomes a; as, smæl, smal-or, smal-ost, small, small-er, small-est. (G. schmal, schmal-er, schmal-est.) The ending -or is however only adverbial; as an adjective the Comparative is formed in -re, -ra, -re, whether used definitely or in lefinitely; as, (bæt) leóf-re, (se) leof-ra, (seó) leóf-re (the) dearer; (G. das &c. lieb-re) (bæt) smæl-re &c. (the) smaller; (G. das &c. schmal-re). The Superlative has both the definite and indefinite inflections, the former in -ost, or -est, (also the adverbial form), the latter in -oste, -osta, -oste, or -este &c; as, leóf-ost dearest, þæt leóf-oste, or leóf-este &c. the dearest; (G. das &c. lieb-ste.)

Meh, mec (L. mihi, G. mich) and peh, pec (G. dich) sometimes occur for me and pe likewise the poetical úsih, úsic, and eówih, eówic for ús and eów; and uncit and incit, for unc and inc.

There being, as in English, no reflective pronoun, the personals are used instead; as, ic me reste I rest me (uyself), ha heówas wyrmdon hig, the servants were warming them (selves) Sylt self, same, declined as an adjective both definitely and indefinitely (I.), and agreeing with the pronoun or noun, gives a strong reflective sense; as, ic sylt or sylfa I myself; fram me sylfum of myself, hú sylt thou thyself; we sylte we ourselves, &c.; seó sylfe tíd the same time. (2) Sometimes the pronoun stands in the dative before sylf; as, (ic) me sylf I myself; him-sylf he himself. (3)

⁽³⁾ Like F. mot-meme, lut-meme, hence seemingly my-self, thy-self &cc. self is properly no more a noun than abrog, L. 14se, or F. meme.

II.—Possessives.

The Possessive Pronouns are formed, as in German, from the genitives of the two first persons; as, min (G. mein) mine, my; pin (G. dein) thinc, thy; uncer, are (G. unser) our; incer, edwer (G. euer) your: like other Pronouns in general, they are declined as indefinite adjectives I. Those in -er are usually contracted; as uncre, edwers, and the like U'ie forms arum, area, &c; but remains unchanged in the whole feminine singular. The poetical as a (asser) for are is thus declined:—

Neut	Masc	Fem

The genitive of the third person is used unchanged: his, its, his, hire her, hira their To make these reflective, the genitive of sylf agreeing with the pronoun, or the indefinite adjective agen own, agreeing with the noun, must be used; as, bin sylfes bearn thine own son; to his agenre pearfe to his own need. Sin occurs in poetry as a possessive of the third person; not however like G. sein, for L. ejus, but for L. suus only.

III.—Demonstratives.

The Demonstrative Pronouns are pæt, se, seó that, likewise the relative which, who, that, and the article the; (1) and his, hes, he os this.

pæne, pæm, pare, pæra, are sometimes used for pone, pam, pæie, para; likewise pæs for pas; the s in pise, &c. is often doubled, pissere and pissera occur also for pisse and pissa. The indeclinable pe is used for all cases of pæt, se, seó, as a relative; combined with it it forms pæt-te (4) that which, se-pe he that, seó-pe she that. Ylc same, follows the indefinite declension.

Swylc such, is often repeated, standing in the second place adverbially, 'as, Ælc ping on-gitan swylc swylce hit is to understand each thing so as it is.

IV .- Interroqutives.

The Interrogative Pronouns are hwæt, hwá? what? who? hwylc? which? hwæder whether? which? The first has no plural, and is thus declined:

⁽⁵⁾ From hwam and hwas, are whom and whose.

V.—Indefinites.

The Indefinite pronouns are swa hwæt(-swa) whatso-ever, swá-hwá (-swá) who-so-ever, swá-hwylc (-swá) which-so-ever, æg hwæt (ge-hwæt), æg-hwylc, &c. whatsoerer. &c which follow the declension of the chief word in the compound. Others are ælc, each, every one, eall all, énig any, nénig none whaterer, án-lipig (én-lipig) single, alone, &c. Ge-noh enough is sometimes indeclinable. A'n one, a, and sum some, a, a certain, serve for the indefinite article, which is however often not expressed sum placed after a genitive cardinal number implies one above it; as, tif-tyna sum one of sixteen, one with fifteen others. Manig (mænig) many sometimes has nom. and accus. plur. manega. Fela much many is indeclinable: feawa (fea) few, sometimes has abl. and dat. plur. feáwum, gen. feára, both often govern a genitive plural; as, mádma fela many treasures; feá worda few words. Man (man) is used (like G. man, and F. on) (1) indefinitely for one, they; as, Me man sægde they told me (G. man sagte mir). From wiht (wuht) creature, being, (wight, whit) are formed á-wiht (á-wuht) contracted to áwht, áht anything, ought; and nán-wiht (-wuht) náwht, náht(2) nothing, nought. A'n, like all other pronouns, follows indef Decl. I., sometimes making accus. masc. ænne; thus too nán none. Used definitely, áne, ána, áne, and standing after its noun, &c, it means alone. Twá (2) and preo are thus declined:—

Bá, begen, bá both, follows twá; prefixed to twá it forms bá-twá (bú-tú) (*) which is indeclinable. The numbers feower to twelf inclusive, when used absolutely, have a nom. in -e, &c.; as, ealle seofone all seven; án of þám twelfum one of the twelve; án pissa fifa one of these five. Those above eahta usually govern a genitive. Twentig and the others in -tig make abl and dat. -tigum, gen -tigra. Hund prefixed to the tens after sixtig (answering to -κοντ-α, L. -gint-a) is sometimes dropt when hund hundred goes before; as, scipa an hund and eahtatig, of ships one hundred and eighty. Hund (hundred) follows II. 1; hundred and þúsend, III. 1.

Units are placed before tens, as, six and fiftig. ux and fifty. In numbers above a hundred, the smaller stands last, and the noun is repeated; as, Hundteontig wintra and seofon and feowertig wintra, a hundred winters and seven and forty winters. (5)

Wintre affixed to numbers forms adjectives denoting age; as, fram twi-wintrum cilde, from the child of two years.

Units combined with ordinal tens stand first when cardinals, last when ordinals; as, an and pryttigode one and thirtieth; py twentigodan dæge and py feordan dæge Septembris, on the twenty and fourth day of September.

Healf half placed after an ordinal number (like G. halb) reduces it by half; as, oder-healf (lit second-half) one and a half, (G. andert-halb); pridde-healf (lit third-half) two and a half (G. dritte-halb).(1) A'n, twá, pieo, form én-e once, twi-wa (tu-wa) twice, pry-wa thrice; with the other cardinals, and all the ordinals, síd a time is used in the ablative for the same purpose; as, feower, fíf, &c. síd um or síd on four, five, &c. times, (pý) forman, ódre, pryddan, &c. síde the first, second, third, &c. time.

CHAPTER V.

I .- Verbs. Conjugation.

There are two Orders of Verbs, as of Nours; viz. the Simple and the Complex; (2) the former containing pure or open Verbs answering to the Greek in -aeiv, -eeiv, and -oeiv, and to the Latin in -are, -ēre, and -ire; the latter impure or close Verbs, answering to the Greek regulars, and to the Latin in -ere, &c.(3) The Simple Order forms its imperfect by adding -ode (-ede), -de, or -te to the root; the participle past by adding -od (-ed), -d, or -t: in the Complex the imperfect becomes monosyllabic and changes its vowel; the participle past ends in -en.(4) The former is divided into three Classes forming one Conjugation; the latter into two Conjugations of three Classes each.

^(*) See Rask's Grammar, pp 67-70.

⁽⁴⁾ E and G. verbs in general follow the A.S., though complex forms have in each not seldom become simple.

II .- Comparative View of the Chief Tenses.

The first form of the present indicative, and of the imperative plural, is used when the pronoun comes first, or is left out; as, we luftad we love, hýrad hear; the second when the pronoun follows close; as, telle ge tell ye? The subjunctive plural sometimes ends in -an or -en; as, luftan, hýrden, and the like. The gerund, which is always preceded by tó, and seems to be a kind of dative of the infinitive, answers to our infinitive present, active and passive, and to the Latin supines, infinitive future, active and passive, &c., as, Come þúús tó for-spillanne? camest thou to destroy us? L. nos perditum. Hwæder is édre tó cwedanne? whether is easier to say? L. facilius dictu. Eart þú se-þe tó cumenne eart? art thou he that is (art) to come?

L. qui venturus est. He ó bý đ tó lufigenne (1) she is (must be, or ought) to be loved, L. amanda est. The infinitive of the first Class is often formed in -igan, sometimes in -igean, for -ian, and g is put in or left out in some other forms with little or no change of pronunciation. The Gerund of the third Class sometimes makes -enne for -anne. Ge may be prefixed to any part of verbs in general, but is oftenest used with the imperfect, and especially with the participle past, though not, as in German, to be considered the sign of the latter. (2)

IV.—Class I.

^(*) Ge- 18 seldom used before another prefix.

Some verbs of this Class, especially those having e for their vowel, form their imperfect and part, past in -ede and ed, as well as -ode and od; as, herian to praise, seglian to sail, ge-fremian to profit, which make herede, (ge-)hered, or herode, herod; seglede, and the like: -ode and -od are sometimes changed into -ade and -ad Swerian to swear, borrows some tenses from a complex form, making imperf. swerede or swor swore; imp subj. swore; imper. swere or swere; part. past (ge-) sworen sworn. Folgian, fyligan, or fylian to follow, has imperf folgode, fyligde, or fylide; imper. folga or fylig

V -Class II.

The second Class forms its imperfect and participle past in -de and -ed, or in -te and -t, according to its characteristic letter; the hard consonants, viz. t, p. c, x, requiring -te and -t, the soft, viz. d, d, f, g, w, l, m, n, r, s, taking -de and -ed; as,

Some 'verbs in -gan are contracted, as, preagan, prean to vex, reproach, tweógan, tweón to doubt pres. preage or prea, preast, pread; pl. preagad, pread, &c.; tweóge or tweó, tweóst, tweód, &c.; imperf. preade, tweóde; part. past bread, tweód.

The second and third persons singular sometimes make est, ed, especially when many consonants might oth wise meet; as, nemne (I) name, nemnest, nemned; imperf. nemde · some have both forms; as, læde, lætst, læt, or lædest, læded; patt. past læded or læd. Verbs with s, d, and t form the third person in -t; as, ræse, ræst sende, sent; méte, mét: those with d in d, as cýde, cýd imperf. cýdde or cýdde; p. past cýded or cýd. Verbs in this and the following classes with a double characteristic, drop one letter and take ·e in the imperative; as, dyppe, dype, and the like. To this class belong several transitives, derived from intransitives of the Complex Order; as, bærnan to burn (act.), from byrnan to burn (neut.); drencan (') to drench, from drincan to drink; fyllan to fell, from

VI.—Class III.

The third Class changes e into ea, é into 6, &c. in the imperfect, forming it in -de or -te, and the part past in -d or -t by the rules given above. The English synonyms commonly change the vowel in like manner, the German sometimes.

Seódan to seethe, has third pers. sýd; imperf. seád, sode, &c.; p. past soden sodden.(2) Thus also others in -san and -dan.

Fleoge is contracted to fleo, plur. fleod, fleo, infin. fleogan, fleon; thus likewise teogan, teon to draw, tug: wreon to cover, and peon to thrive, have only the contracted forms.

Seón to see, makes imperf seáh or séh, sáwe or sége, &c. imper seóh or sýh; part. present seónde; part. past (ge-)sewen, or segen.

Ge-feón (-feán) to rejoice, has imperf. ge-feáh or -féh, ge-fage or fege; part past ge-fagen, -fægen. Beón to be, is defective:

Infin. beón Ger. tó beónne. Part. pres. beónde.

XV:-Anomalous Verbs.

The following verbs are Anomalous, having for their present an old imperfect of the Complex Order, and for their imperfect one formed since after the Simple Order.

⁽¹⁾ G. kiese, kor, ge-koren.
(2) G. siede, sott, ge-sotten.
(3) G. bin, bist.

pearf(1), pearft or purfe, purfon; subj purfe; unp. porfte; inf. pearfan: need.

XVI.-Auxiliaries, &c.

The A. S. has no future tense, the present serving for both: wille and sceal, like G. will and soll, imply will, duty, and the like, and are not used like will and shall, to form a simple future; the present of be on has commonly a future power. The perfect and pluperfect are formed as in English, German, &c. by means of the verb to have; as, ic hæbbe (ge-)lufod I have loved. (?) The participle past being as in the above-named tongues the only true passive form, the passive tenses are formed throughout by the help of the auxiliaries wesan, weordan, and beon to be; as, present ic eom, or weorde lufod(1) I am loved; imperf. 10 wæs, or weard lufod; perf. ic eom lufod worden I have been loved; pluperf. ic wæs lufod worden I had been loved; future, ic be o lufod I shall be loved.

Impersonal verbs are like those of other languages; as, hit rind it rains, hit ge-limpd it happens. Some have a passive sense; as, a-lýfd it is allowed, lawful (L. licet); ge wyrd it is agreed, seems good (L. convenit).

⁽³⁾ The imperfect is often used for the pluperfect.

⁽³⁾ Comp. G. 1ch habe, hatte, werde, wurde, ge-tiebt, ich bin, war geliebt worden.

CHAPTER VI.

I .- Formation of Words. Piefixes.

As in Greek, Latin. German, &c. this branch of the language must be strictly attended to, if we would learn the origin, gender, and inflection of words: it consists of Derivation. and Composition, in both which the A S. closely resembles the German. Derivation either modifies the meaning of a word by putting before it a prefix or changes its part of speech, and inflection, by adding a termination. Composition forms new words by joining one or more together.

The following are the chief prefixes:

un- (on-) (L in-; 1'. and G. un-): un-scyldig (G. un-schuldig) in-nocent; un-tigian to un-tie.

n- (ne not; L. ne): n yllan (for newillan, L. n-olle for ne velle) to will not, nill; n-an none.

mis- (E. mis-; G. miss-, misse-). mis truwian (G. mis-trauen) to mis-trust; mis-déd (G. misse-that) misdeed.

wan-(4) (wana wanting): wan-hal unhealthy.

to-(*) (L. dis-; G. zer-): to-brecan (L. dis-rumpere, G. zer-brechen) to break in pieces; to-drifan (L. dispellere, G. zer treiben) to scatter, drive away.

⁽⁴⁾ Hence O. wan-hope (D. wan-hoop) despair; wan-trust (D. wan-trouw) mis-trust for-(') (L. per-; E. for-; G. ver-): for-beódan (G. ver-bieten) to for-bid; for-swerian (L. per-jurare) to for-swear; for-gán to for-go; for-bærnan (G. ver-brennen) to burn up, consume; for-gifan (G. ver-geben) to give away, for-give.

⁽³⁾ Hence O. to-broken, to-torn &c. The prefix to- must be carefully distinguished from the preposition t 6.

wider- (wid against; G. wider-): wider-saca (G. wider-sacher) udversary and- (avri; G. ant-): and-wlita (G. ant litz) countenance.

ge-(G. ge-; L. com-, con-, co-): has in general a collective sense; as, ge-bródra (G. ge-bruder) brethren; ge-scý (G. ge-schuhe, F. chaussure) shoes; ge-mæne (G. ge-mein, L. com-mune) common; ge-fera (G gefahrte, L. com-es) companion; it forms active verbs from neuters, nouns, &c. as, ge-standan to urge; ge-pencan (G. ge-denken) to think of, remember; ge-strangian to strengthen; ge-leánian to reward; ge-niderian to degrade, condemn; from standan, pencan, strang, leán (reward), nider; or gives a figurative sense; as, biddan to ask, beg, ge-biddan to pray. Many words, however, take ge-without any change of meaning; as, seón, geseón to see; hýran, ge-hýran to hear, obey; mearc, ge-mearc mark, limit; rúm, ge-rúm wide, roomy.

be- (E. and G. be) makes neuter verbs active; as, gán to go. be-gán to commit, &c. (G. gehen, be-gehen); feran to go, be-feran to travel over (G. fahren, be-fahren). It is sometimes privative; as, bycgan to buy, be-bycgan to sell; be-heafdian to be-head: often intensive; as, reáfian to rob, be-reáfian to be-reave (G. rauben, be-rauben); be-gyrdan (G be-girten) to bepird; or otherwise modifies the sense, as, be-healdan to be-hold, be-sprecan (G. be-sprechen) to be speak.

ed- (again, re-): ed-niwian to re-new.

sin- (simle always, L. semper): sin-grén ever-green sam- (L. semi-): sam-cuce(2) half-quich, half-dead.

æg- or ge- gives pronouns and adverbs an indeterminate sense; as, æg-hwylc (ge-hwylc) each, every æg hwider whithersoever.

II .- Nominal Terminations.

The following are the chief Nominal Terminations, denoting for the most part persons:

- -a(3): cemp-a warrior, champion; hunt-a hunter; bog-a bow.
- -ere: (E and G. -er; L. -or): reaf-ere (G. raub-er) robb-er; sæd-ere (L. sat-or) sow-er.
- -end (from the part. pres.): Hæl-end (G. Heil-and) Saviour, healer; weald-end ruler.
- -e: hyrd-e herd, heeper; sig e victory; riht-wis-e righteousness.
- -el, -ol, -l (E. -le; G. -el): byd-el (G. bed-el) herald bead-le; gaf-ol tribute, gav-el; set-l (G sess-el) seat, sett-le.
- -ing: æđel-ing prince, young noble; Woden-ing son of Woden; earm-ing poor wretch.
 - (*) Cuc, cucu, cucen, cwic (-e) are also found
- (3) Answering sometimes to L. -o; as, g u m-a, L. hom-o man, groom; hence bryd-g u m a G. brauti-gam, bride-groom.

-ling (E. -ling; G. -lein, -ling): cnæp-ling (G. knab-lein) little boy; leór-ling (G. theuer-ling) darling.

-en (E. -en): peód-en sovereign, byrd-en burth-en
-en (E. -en; G. -in). Feminines from masculines sometimes change the vowel; as, pen, pin-en slave, female slave; fox, fyx-en (G. fuchs, fuchs-in) fox, vix-en, sometimes not; as, peów, peów-en slave. Some change the vowel, and take -e; others change the vowel only; as, mearh, myr-e horse, mare; wulf, wylf (G. wolf, wolf-in) uolf, she-wolf.

-estre (E. and D. -ster): sang-estre (D. zang-ster) song-ster, from rangere sunger; sænn-estre seam-ster, 'rom sæm-ere seamer, tailor.(1)

The following denote a state, action, or the like:

-dóm (E. -dom; G. -thum): wis-dóm wis-dom; yn e-dóm(2) (G. könig-thum) king-ship

-hád (E.-head, -hood; G -heit): mæden-hád maid-n-head; cild-hád (G. kind-heit) child-hood.

^{(&#}x27;) In songstr-ess, seamstr-ess, a Latin-French termination has been super idded lluck-ster, malt-ster, tap-ster, and the like, are the true feminines of hank er, malt-er, tapp-er, &c. Spin-ster is yet rightly used.

⁽²⁾ We have confounded -dom and -ric, but -dóm was properly the office, -ara, rice the territory thus, cyne-dóm, cyne-rice (G. konig-reich); bisceop-dóm, bisceop-rice, and the like.

-scipe (E. -ship; G. -schaft): hláford-scipe lord-ship; freond-scipe (G. freund-schaft) friend-ship.

-lác (E. -lock): wif-lác, wed-lock.

-ad, -od: hunt-ad hunting; war-od sea-shore.

-uđ, -đ (E. th; G.-end): geóg-uđ (G. jug-end) youth; treów-đ troth, truth.

-leást (-lýst; from adj in -leás): gýme-leást heedlessness.

-ung, -ing (E. -ing; G. -ung): halg-ung (G. heilig ung) hallou-ing; leorn-ing learn-ing.

-nes (-nys, -nis: E. -ness; G. -mss): car-leás-nes careless-ness; ge-líc-nes (G. gleich-niss) like-ness.

-u, -eo, -o (G. -e): hát-u (G. hitz-e) heat; mænig-eo (G meng-e) many, multitude; bræd-o (G. breit-e) breadth.

-els (E. -le; G. -el): ræd-els (G. raths-el) ridd-le; sticc-els (G stach-el) stick-le, sting.

-ed: rec-ed mansion; eow-ed flock

-m (E. -om; G -en): bot-m (G bod-en) bott-om.

-ot, -et, -t: peow-ot, peow t slavery; bærn-et burning.

-d, -t (E. -th, -d, -t; G. -t): ge-byr-d (G. ge-bur-t) bir-th, ge-cyn-d hin-d, nature; mih-t (G. mach-t) migh-t

-ræden (ræd counsel): hiw-ræden house-hold; mæg ræden relationship.

III .- Adjectival Terminations.

-e: æđel-e noble; fæg-e fated, fcy.

-ig (E. -y, G. -ig): dreor-ig (G. traur-ig) drear-y; bys-ig bus-y.

-lic (E. -like, -ly, G. -lich): leof-lic (G. lieb lich) love-ly; wif-lic (G. weib-lich) woman-like, woman-ly.

-isc (E -1sh, G. 1sch): cild-isc (G. kind-isch) child ish; Engl-isc (G. engl-isch) Engl-ish, Anglo-Saxon.

-wis (wise): ge-wis (G. ge-wiss) certain; riht-wis righteous.

-ern (E. -ern): súd-ern south-ern.

-tyme: hefig-tyme troublesome.

IV .- Verbal Terminations.

-ian (-igan, -igean) forms verbs (I. 1.) from nouns, adjectives, and particles; as, cear-ian to care, ge-hýrsum an to obey, wider-ian to oppose; from cear care, ge-hýrsum obedient, wider against.

C, g, n, or s, sometimes stands before -ian; as, gearc-lan to prepare, syn-g-ian to vin, wit-n-ian to punish, mér-s-ian to magnify; from gearn ready, yare, syn sin, wite punishment, mére great, famous

-án is contracted from -angan, -ágan, or -agan, and -ahan; as, gangan, gán to go; smeágan, smeán to consider, enquire; preagan, preán to vex; sleahan, sleán (G. schlagen) to strike, sluy.

-ón is contracted from -angan, or -ógan; as, fangan fón to take; teógan, teón to draw, tug.

-ettan: hál-ettan to hail, greet, from hál whole hale.

After c and g, e is not seldom inserted; as, réc-ean, picg-ean, for réc-an to reach, picg-an to touch, taste, &c.

Other verbs in general form the infinitive in -an.

V .- Particles.

Adverbs, prepositions, and conjunctions, are either primitive words, that is, not to be further resolved in the language treated of, or are formed from nouns (ofter obsolete), adjectives, &c. governed by a preposition expressed or understood. Of the former kind are nú now, geó (iú), formerly, eft again, get (iet), yet, be by, &c. for for, tó to, ac but, gif if, &c. Of the latter kind, (to take the cases in order) are the accusatives on-weg (a-weg) a-way; on-bæc (under-, ofer-bæc) a-back, back; (on-)ge-mang a-mong; on-gean (a-gen) a-gain, a-gainst; ealne-weg al-way.

-e (abl. or dat.) forms many adverbs from nouns, adjectives, (1) &c.; as, on-riht-e (L. rect-e) (2) a-riht a-right, rightly; lang-e (L. long-e) long; mid-ealle altogether; be-déle partly; tó-sóde in sooth, truly; of-dúne, a-dún a-down, down; tó-gædere (æt-gædere), tó-somne (æt-somne, G. zu-sammen), to-gether.

lic-e (E. -ly; the same, borrowed from adjectives in -lic): sceort-lic-e short-ly, strang-lic-e strong-ly

Other ablatives are the conjunctions for-pý therefore; (for-) hwý? (for) why?, datives for-pám because, tó-pón-pæt in order that, síð-pán (G. seit-dem) since.

-um, -on (abl. or dat plur.): (on) hwîl-um, hwîl on whilome, whiles, wundr-um uondrously, hwyrft-um by turns, sticce-mælum(3) prece-meal, be lytl-um and lytl-um by little and little, furd-um (-on) even, just, on-sundr-on in-sunder, a-sunder.

-es (genitive): niht-es(*) (vurt-oc, G. nacht-s) of a right, by night, will-es willingly, néd-es of necessity, reeds, eall-es altogether, nall-es by no means, sod es of a truth, to-gean-es against, to-midd-es amidst.

-a, -unga, -inga (perhaps gen. plur.): gear-a of ⁽¹⁾ Those in -h and -u take g and w, as, heáh, heáge; nearu, nearwe: see Adjectives Def, and Indef. I.

⁽²⁾ L. adverbs in -e were perhaps ablatives, like those in -o, as reraind the like.

⁽³⁾ Stic (II. 1) piece, bit, (steak) (G stuck), m &1 (II. 3) (G. mahl) neal, time of eating, milking cows, &c.

⁽⁴⁾ The proper genitives of niht, will a, and ned (nedd) are nihte, willan, nede, at an early stage of the language, all nouns formed the gen. in -es or s; comp. the many Gr. and L. genitives in -og &c. and -is.

yore, son-a soon, forthwith, eall-unga altogether, holinga in vain, yrr-inga angrily.

-an (an oblique case): níw-an of late, newly, for-ar before, on midd-an, a-midd-an a-mid. wid-út-an without, búf-an(5) (for be-úf-an) a-bove; a-bút-an (for on-be-út-an) a-bout, &c

Other adverbial terminations are :-

-der (motion to-): hi-der hi-ther, pi-der thi-ther, hwi-der whi-ther.

-on, -an (motion from—): heon-on hence, pan-on thence, hwan-on whence

-r, -ra, -e, &c. (rest in—): her here, pær (para) there hwær (hwar) where; inn-e within, út-e without.

VI.—Composition (6)

The A. S. language, like the Greek, German, &c. abounds in compound words, of which the last part commonly settles the part of speech. Nouns and adjectives are usually compounded together, and with verbs, without change, as in English, &c.; as, fic-treów fiy-tree heáfod-man (G. haupt-mann) head-man, captain, heá hsacerd, high-priest, biscoop-rice bishop-ric, stæf cræft letter-craft, grammar, medo-ærn(7) mead-hall peow-boren slave-born, stede-fæst stead-fast, bealo full baleful, snáw-hwít (G. schnee-weiss) snow-white fren-heard (G. eisen-hart) as hard as iron, lif-fæstar to quicken, ful-fremman (G. voll-bringen) to ful-fil, and the like.

A noun, however, standing first, is often put in the genitive case, especially in local names; as, domes. dæg doom's-day, hilde-byrne war-corslet; Engla-land England, land of the Angles; Cant-wara-burh Canterbury, burgh of the Kenters; Cinges-tún King's-town, Kingston, Beorminga-ham Birming-ham, home of the Bearmings; Oxena-ford Ox-ford, ford of oxen; from dom, hild, Engle, Cant-ware, cing, Beorming, oxa. One or each part is sometimes shortened, &c.; as, frum-cenned first-born, æl-beorht all-bright, mild-heart mild-hearted; from frum a beginning, eall, milde, hearte. Prepositions and adverbs commonly stand before verbs, &c. without change, as in English, German, &c., as, ymb-gang (G um-gang) circuit; burh-faran (G. duich-fahren) to go through; widstandan (G wider-stehen) to with-stand, to-cyme coming to (L. ad-ventus); fore-rynel fore-runner, foremihtig (I., præ-potens) very mighty; úp-riht (G aufrecht) up-right; úp-stígan(1) (G auf-steigen) to go up. nider-stigan (G nieder-steigen) to go down; ford-gan (G. fort-gehen) to go forth; út-lág out-law (L. ex-lex), ofer-cuman to over-come; ofer-mod (G. uber-muth) pride; under-niman (G. unter-nehmen) to under-take. fram-ge-witan to depart from; in-lædan (G. einleiten) to lead in; geond-geótan to pour through, suffuse; on-gean-cyrran to turn back again; of-sceotan ^{(&#}x27;) Stigan (G. steigen) answers to L. scandere; ad-scendere, detendere, &c.

(G ab-schiessen) to shoot off; æfter-fyligend successor, one uho follows after; mid-sídian to travel with; sundor-spræc conversation apart; samod-(sam-)-wyrcan to work together, co-operate

The preposition be, bi, usually becomes big in composition; as, big-spel (G. bei-spiel) example, parable, big-standan (G bei-stehen) to stand by; it may thus be known from the particle be, which sometimes becomes bi; as, be-standan, bi-standan (G. be-stehen) to stand on, occupy.(2) On often becomes an- or a-; as, on-bidan, an-bidan, a-bidan to a-bide. Æt and od in composition often mean from, away; as, æt-berstan to burst away, od-yrnan to run away, escape, like G. ent-bersten, -rinnen.

Particles are also freely compounded together.

Prepositions, and other particles in composition, are often parted from their verb, as in German, but the same rules can hardly be given in A. S.

In general, purh, úp, niđer, tó, forđ, út, in, on, bi (big) are separable; a-, an-, be-, ge-, ed-, un-, or-, nis-, ođ, and-, wiđ. sam-, for-, to-, are inseparable; et, of, &c. are rarely separated.

CHAPTER VII.

I.--Syntax.

THE AS. Syntax in general resembles that of Greek and German; but it bears the closest likeness, with some remarkable points of difference from that and other tongues, to the Latin, with which it should be compared throughout. The concords agreeing in A. S. with those in Latin, &c. need not be repeated. With regard to the construction of sentences it may be observed, that the verb often stands after both the subject and the object, coming last of all, as for the most part in German; as, på Darius ge-seáh pæt he ofer-wunnen beór wolde, på wolde he hine sylfne on påm ge-feohte for-spillan, when Darius saw that he should be over come, then he would lose his life in the fight.

⁽a) See Formation of Particles.

On piere tide pa Gotan wid Romana-rice gewinn úp-a-hofon, at that time the Goths raised up war against the Roman empire.

We sceolon mid biternysse sodre be-hreowsunge ure mod ge-clensian, we must with the bitterness of true repentance cleanse our mind.

Often, however, sentences are in this and other respects framed as in English; and on the whole this part of the grammar will not prove difficult to the student and may be better learned from reading than from any rules that might be given.

II. Syntax of Nouns.

Nouns of time answering to the question, "how long?" are put in the accusative or ablative; as,

Ealle wucan all the week

prý dagas, or prym dagum three days.

Answering to the question "when?" they stand in the ablative, dative with on, or genitive; as,

SYNTAX OF NOUNS.

þý feordan dógore on the fourth day.

On pissum geare in this year.

Ussa tída(1) in our times.

Measure, value, age, and the like, are used in the genitive; as,

Twegra elna heáh two ells high.

Ynces lang an inch long.

preora mila brád three miles broad.

Sex peninga wyrde worth six pence.

A'nes geares lamb a lumb of one yeur.

The matter to which a measure, &c. is applied, stands in the genitive, as,

Hund mittena hwætes a hundred measures of wheat.

Hund-teoning punda goldes a hundred pounds of gold.

It sometimes remains unchanged, as,

Twegen marc gold(2) tuo marks of gold.

Quality, praise, or blame, stands in the genitive; as,

A'r-wyrdre yldo of venerable age.

Fægeres and-wlitan of fair countenance.

Two ablatives or datives are used absolutely like the L. double ablative, as,

Ge-togene þý wæpne(3) the weapon (being) drawn.

A-fundenum sceape the sheep (being) found

Two datives, the latter governed by to, are used like the L. double dative; as, pæt he ús tó fultume sý(4) that he may be (for) a help to us.

⁽¹⁾ Comp F de nos temps

^(*) G. zwei mark gold.

^(*) L. stricto telo; ove reperta.

^{(&}quot;) L. ut nobis auxilio sit.

The means or instrument stands in the ablative or dative, with or without the preposition mid, as,

Hine mid þý heofon-lícan weg-nyste ge-trymmende strengthening himself with that heavenly viaticum-

Þý betstan leóðe ge-glenged adorned urth the best lay.

Heó hí sylfe mid cyne-lícum reáfe ge-irætwode she adorned herself with royal attire

Hig sprecad niwum tungum they shall speak with new tongues.

III .- Syntax of Adjectives.

Adjectives in general, especially those denoting want, desire, knowledge, remembrance, and the like, have a genitive case of the noun which defines them, and often stand after it; as,

Fees wana wanting money.

Freonda leas lacking friends.

Hrægles pearfa devoid of ruiment.

Earn ætes georn an eagle eager for food.

Ac ic heora eom swide gifre but I am very greedy of them.

Bóca gleáw skilful in books.

Un-wis God-cundan Naman ignorant of the Divine Name.

Hi néron his ge-myndige they were at mindful of him.

Módes blíde blithe of mood.

Sides werig nearly of travel

Mægenes strang strong of might.

I'sig federa icy of wings.

They sometimes take an ablative; as,

Wintrum geong young in years.

Blind bám eágum blind of both eyes.

Adjectives denoting pleasure, profit, injury, and the like, govern a dative; as, peah he him leóf wære though he were dear to Eallum and-feng acceptable to all.

pæt he mynster-licum cumum ge-pensum wære that he might be serviceable to the monastic guests.

Rinca ge-hwylcum un-nyt useless to every man.

Derigend-lic býđ þe it will be hurtful to thee.

Full full, wyrde worthy, scyldig guilty, have an ablative, dative, or genitive; as,

Full Halgum Gaste full of the Holy Ghost.

Full deádra bána full of dead bones

Se wyrhta is wyrde his metes the workman is worthy of his meat.

Se býd dóme scyldig he shall be guilty of the judgnent.

He is deades scyldig he is guilty of death.

Ge-lic hke, has a dative or genitive; as,

Hig synd ge-lice pam cildum('), they are like the shildren.

Nán man nis his ge-líca no man is like him.

The word which determines a comparative stands be fore it in the ablative neuter; as, þrym mundum hýrra three hands higher.

(1) Thus L. similes pueris; ejus similis.

Micle má much more.

þý weordra so much the worthier.

Comparatives require either ponne or pe than, with a nominative, or an ablative or genitive without; as,

Ge synd sélran ponne manega spearwan, or ge synd beteran manigum spearwum ye are better than many sparrows.

O'der-healf gear læs pe prittig wintra a year and a half less than thirty years.

Se is his mara he is greater than him.

Superlatives take a genitive; as,

Ealra wyrta mæst greatest of all herbs

 For the Syntax of Pronouns see Chapter IV.

IV .- Syntax of Verbs.

Verbs, as in other tongues, agree in number with their subject; after ælc þára (þæra) þe each of them that, every one that, however, the singular is used, agreeing with ælc and not with þára; as,

Elc para pe to me cymd (lit. each of them what cometh —) every one that cometh to me.

Swá ge-býrađ ælcum pára þe wind so it befitte!h every one that contendeth.

With a noun of multitude the verb may be either singular or plural; as, pá com micel mænigeo and tó him éfston then came a great multitude and hastened to him.

Transitive verbs in general, as in other tongues, govern the direct object in the accusative case; as, Lufa pinne nextan love thy neighbour

Seó sæ ge-tácnað þás and-weardan woruld the sea betokeneth this present world.

A'xian to ask, takes a double accusative; as,

Nán ne dorste hine nán þing máreáxian no ons durst ask hun anything more.

Verbs of naming have an accusative of the object uamed, and a nominative of the name; as, pone un-ge-met lice eargan pú miht hátan hara the immoderately timid thou mayest call hare.

Rædan to rule, a bregdan to draw (a weapon), and to-bregdan to cast off (sleep,) govern the ablative as, penden hi pý ríce rædan móston while they might rule the reabn

A preposition sometimes stands after its case; as, Hi him mid sæton they sate with him.

Him bi twegen beámas stódon by him stood two trees.

It is sometimes parted from it altogether, and placed either next before the veib, or last of all, as, pe he man-cyn mid a-lýsde with which he redeemed mankind pá ge-nea-lichte him án man tó then drew nigh to him a man.

Ymb-útan is sometimes divided; as,

Ymb han-cred útan about cock-crow.

Wid and weard are sometimes used, the one before, the other after an accusative or genitive; as,

Wid heofonas weard(e) toward the heavens.

Wid Petres weard toward Peter.

VI.—Syntax of Conjunctions.

The following conjunctions require the verb to be in the indicative mode:

and (3) and,

eác eke, also.

^(*) P. holt, G. holz.
(*) Comp the use of L. ad—versus.
(*) Comp. G. und, auch, so, da, dann, denn, da—da, &c.

ac but swá, swá-swá so, as swá-swá so-as på þá-þá when, as (for-)hwý why? mid-þý(-þe) (4) \big| when, mid-þám(-þe) \big| while benden uhile síð-þán since óder-twega – odde either óder-þára — ná der-ne-ne neuther-nor swá peáh (peáh-)hwædere $\begin{cases} yet, \\ never-\\ theless \end{cases}$ ná-læs-ac not only-but (for-)pý(-pe)) for, because, for-bam(-be) \ therefore.

The following require the subjunctive, though in general, as in Latin, in subordinate prepositions only:

þæt, þæt-te (5) that beáh(-be) though swylce as if bonne hwænne uhen hwær where py-iæs(-pe) lest nemne tó-pón-pæt in order that nymđe unless á-þý-þe so much the-as hú, hú-meta how.

ođ(-bæt) until þá-hwíle(-þe)(6) (the) while ér-pám(-pe) (before hwæder(-pe)(7))whether sam-sam ((-or)gif (8) if

- (4) The particle be is added or not at pleasure to several conjunctions.
- (5) G dass, D dat, G. doch, wann, wenn, &c.
- (6) Hwils a noun, (11.3) while, time, G weile.
- (1) Answering to ποτερον-ή, L. utrum-au, like these hwater is propally a neuter pronoun
- (8) The conjunction gif has no more to do with the verb gifan than &. gin has with given, or O. an with unnan.

Hwæt dó ic pæt ic éce lif áge? what shall I do that I may possess eternal life?

Ic wat pet hit byd sawl and lic-homa I know that it is soul and body.

peah hwylc of deade a-rise though one arise from death.

peah-pe ic sceal ealle wucan fæstan though I shall fast all the week.

Swylce pú hí ge-sceópe as if thou hadst created them.

þý-læs þú þínne fót æt stáne æt-sporne lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

To-pon-pæt he his rice ge-brædde in order that he might extend his empire

A'-þý un-weoidia þe hine manige men forseón so much the unworthier because many men despise him.

Od-pæt pu cume tó pám fyrmestan till thoucome to the first.

Dú sædest þæt þú ne mihte wítan hú-meta he his weólde thou saidst that thou couldst not know how he ruled it.

Hú Boetius hine singende ge-bæd how Boëtius singing prayed

Bútan for but has an indicative, for unless a subjunctive; as,

Bútan ic wát but I know.

Bútan we gán unless we go.

Hú ne with an indicative, and hwæder with a subjunctive, are used to make prepositions interrogative; as,

Hú ne dóð mán-fulle swá? do not the wicked so? Hwæðer ge nú sécan gold on treowum do ye now seek qold on trees?

wyst bu, or segst bú? sayest thou? cwede ge say yc? &c. serve the same purpose with an indicative; as,

Segst pú mæg se blinda pone blindan lædan?
may the blind lead the blind?

Cwede ge hæbbe ge sufol? have ye meat?

Uton (-an) with an infinitive, expresses a wish or intention, as,

Uton gán let us go.

The negative ne not stands (like L. non, ne, F. ne) before the verb; as,

Ne for-læt he eów he will not for sake you.

Two(1) or more negatives are often used, ne being usually prefixed to each word capable of taking it; as,

Ne wép þú ná weep not.

pá næs nán cræft þæt ic ne cúde then there was no art that I knew not.

Se-pe nis náder ne ge boren ne ge-sceapen fram nánum ódrum who is neither born nor created by any other.

Bútan but, only takes ne before it, as,

We nabbad búton(2) fif hláfas we have but five loaves.

VII.—Syntax of Interjections.

Wá wo takes a dative; as,

Wá þám men !(s) wo to the man! where sý (beó) be, or býð shall be is understood.

^{(&#}x27;) The doctrine, therefore, that "two negatives make an afficuative," is so foreign to the true spirit of the English as it would be to that of the Greek language

⁽²⁾ Comp. F. nous n'avons que.

Wáis me(4)! wo is me!

On the other interjections, of which the following are he chief, nothing need be added:

lá! O, oh, lo!
ea-lá! oh, halloo, alas!
efne! behold!
wá lá-wá (wei-lá-wei) well-a-way!
hwæt! lo! indeed!
Leóf(5) is used as an expletive; as,
Gea(6), leóf, ic hæbbe yea marry have 1.

^(*) Oùas μοι ἐστι.

⁽⁵⁾ Analogous to our P and familiar ase of the word 4:-

⁽⁴⁾ G. and D. ja.

CHAPTER IX.

VERSE EXTRACTS.

١,

I.—Narrative Verse.

Anglo-Saxon Poetry is of various kinds, distinguished by rime, by alliteration, or by both; the commonest however only, termed Narrative Verse, will be here de-Its chief characteristic is Alliteration (1), or scribed. the correspondence of the first letters of a certain number of the most important words in each line of a couplet, two called sub-letters riming thus together in the first line, and answering to a third called the chief letter in the second. The first line has often but one sub-letter and never more than two: the second never more than one chief letter The length of the lines varies much, each however must contain at least two emphatic or root syllables, with one or more unemphatic, that is prefixes, terminations, &c : few lines have less than four syllables, two emphatic, and two unemphatic, and some have as many as eight or nine, or even more. For example (1):

^{(&#}x27;) Alliteration is found in the Latin poetry of the middle ages, sometimes combined with line and final rime, and syllabic metre, it was used more or less in England along with other kinds of rime till a late period, and is still usual in the Scandinavian tongues. The Vision of Piers Plouhman (1350) is a long and regular specimen of English alliterative poetry, on the above rules. For a full account of the A.S. versification, see Rask's Grammar, pp. 136—68.

Hú lomp(2) eów on láde (3)
leófa Beó-wulf,
þá þú færinga
feor ge-hogodest
sæcce (4) sécean
ofer sealt wæter,
lilde (5) tó Heorote (6)?
Ac þú Hróð-gáre
wið cúðne wean (7)
wihte ge-béttest (8),

How befell it you on your

dear Beówulf,
when thou suddenly
far off determinedst warfare to seek
over the salt water,
battle at Heorot?
Hast thou then Hróthgár against his known plague ought booted,
the famous prince?

Here the first couplet has in the first line two subletters, the l in lomp and l'ade, answering to the chief letter, the l in leofa in the second. The third line has but one sub-letter, the f in færinga which rimes with

- (1) Beówulf, ed. Kemble 1 3969-79.
- (2) Limpan (III. 1) to happen.
- (8) Ladu (III 3.) lidan to travel, journey, chiefly by see.
- (4) Sæc (II 3) hence such of a town.
- (5) Hild (II 3.) battle, war.
- (6) The palace of Hróthgár prince of a Danish tribe.
- (7) Wen evil, misfortune.
- (8) Bétan to profit, improve, do good to, bút (II. 3) boot, profit.
- (*) Though quantity and number of syllables seem no essential part of A S. versification, many lines will bear a more or less regular scanning; thus most short lines consist either of two trochees. like the 2nd, 5th, and 11th above, or of a dactyl and spondee like the 10th: the 3rd, and 6th, also might be called univerfect adonics.

that in feor in the fourth. The third and fourth couplets have each two sub-letters like the first; the fourth again but one, wid being here not emphatic. The last line depends for its alliteration on the first of the next period, the couplet joining two lines by alliteration only, is often thus broken by the sense.

When the chief letter is a vowel or diphthong, the sub-letters must likewise be vowels or diphthongs, but need not be the same; as,

U'tan ymbe adelne englas stódon.
Eordan a'ht-ge-streón, æpplede gold.

Without round the noble angels stood.
Earth's possessions, appled (1) gold

In the first example the sub letters \hat{u} and \hat{x} in the first line answer to the chief letter e in the second; in the other eo, \hat{x} , and \hat{x} rime together.

When the chief letter is double, the sub letters are usually double likewise; as, Frægn f: om-lice (2) framan and ende. Sceán scír (3) werod, scyldas lixton. He asked prudently the beginning and end. Shone the bright host, shields gleamed.

The following prefixes and prepositions in composition are not reckoned as part of the alliteration, which  Cædmon, the Anglo-Saxon Milton, author of the Metrical Paraphrase of parts of the Holy Scriptures, from which the following extracts are taken, was first a herdsman, afterwards a monk in the Abbey of Streoneshalh or Whitby, then ruled by S. Hild: he flourished in the 7th century. IV.—Additional Notes.

Page 1.—E is not a diphthong, but a modification of a in the other dialects, for which it is substituted in certain cases, as before a mute, or a consonant followed by e; thus dæg, dege, but plur. dagas, dagu'm; so also fæt, sæd, &c.: é answering to Goth. é, is not changed.

The A. S. wrote 1 without a dot, y with one p probably gave rise to the O abbreviations ye for the (b,e), yt for that (bt), &c.

Page 2 — I was also written for obole or, sobol for sobolice truly, verily. Examples of the use of n are pa for pam to the &c, pon for ponne then, when.

In later times 3 occurs for g, originally most likely a guttural, afterwards = y · hence the O. z still retained in some S. names, as Dalzell, Menzies, pronounced Dalyell, Menzies

A long vowel is sometimes written double without the accent; as, wild, good, gees, for wid, god, ges, like D. wild &c , in G also the vowel is sometimes doubled in like manner. Where A S. vowels are made long by contraction the dropt conson int sometimes appears, sometimes not in the modern Tentonic dialects, as, (sleahan) slean, G. schlagen, D. slaan, gingan, Lan, G. gehen, D gann, hangan, hón, G. and D hangen N has been often dropt and the vowel lengthened before other consonants, above all before s, (Note 1) while it remains in kindred tongues; as, est (love, favour), Goth, ansts, gos, G gans, L. ans-er; os (god, hero)Goth ans, soft, G. sanft, fus (mompt), Goth. funs, ús, Goth and G uns, L nos, &c This seems the case in Greek too, where us is in like manner avoided, as, doug, δούσα (L. dans), στας, στάσα (L stans), Σιμοεις, and many other words, in some of which the circumfley, as elsewhere, marks the contraction; the vappears as soon as the s is removed; neut. δον, σταν; gen. δοντος, σταντος, Σιμοεντος &c. In A. S. i, ý, ó, and ú before 5, often answer to a cognate short vowel followed by nd, nt, or nth, in the other languages, as, live, (lithe, soft) G linde. six (time) Goth. sinths, Dan. sinde, swid, Goth swinths, hrýver, G. rind, D. rund; jo, L. unda, óder, Goth anthars, G ander; teóde (tenth), G. zehnte, cúz, G kund, gúð (war). Goth. gunths, O. G. kund

In the imperfects stod, brothe, batte, batte, n is likewise dropt, and the vowel made long, g or c in the three last becoming h, as often else, cunnan and unman also make case, as instead of cunde (G. konnte), under bothe bought should most likely be short, not being so contracted. Something like these changes now and then appears in L., as, fundo, fudi, fusus, tundo, tusus, where the vowel in the present is long for prosodical purposes only. On the whole, though the Gr and L quantity sometimes agrees with the AS, and the D and G very often, the Gothic is the only sure guide, or failing that, the Leel indic, or other old kindred dialects.

Page 4.—Sometimes too g is added before e, as geow for eow, with little or no change of sound (see p 41), with a soft vowel before or after it, g seems to have been but lightly sounded, as y, or as a fine guttural.

Page 5 —Other changes are 10 for eo, and 16 for eó, se o fon, s10 fon, heó, h16 · u for o, and ú for 6, especially after ge, which sometimes becomes 1, geong, (grung) rung, geó, (grú) rú, ró, Ió'tas, Iútas Jutes re for y, gyld, greld payment, tax &c. Uoccurs medievally for v in foreign names, as Daurd David, hence also for f, as lunian for luftan to love. Some of these spellings and those p 5, are the variations of different times, some of different dialects, of which as yet but little is known with certainty.

Page 8.—A. S d has sometimes become E. th (soft), often G. t; fæder father, G. vater. D and & usually answer to G. and D. d; preo, G drei, D dite, bró & er, G bruder, D broeder, & sometimes to G. and D t, for &, G fort, D. voort. See also p. 2 and addition thereto. The loss of these letters in E. and the substitution of the one unmeaning combination th for both the hard and soft sound is much to or regretted. The A. S. had seemingly no rule but custom for the use of these two letters and sounds, as we for the latter, respectively, but as p is found oftenest at the beginning, and 5 at the end of a syllable, they are here so printed throughout.

Page 8-9.—The following are likewise exceptions to the general rule that the A.S. gender agrees with the German:

Neut	elıf	G klippe (f)	cliff, rock.
_	líc	G leiche (f)	corpse.
-	ŧád	G. sant (f.)	seed.
_	sccorp	G. scharpe (f.)	scarf.
_	big-spel	G. bei-spiel (m)	example.
_	toll	G. zoll (m.)	toll.
Masc	πæs	G. nasc (f.)	nose, ness.
_	sál	G. seil (n.)	cord.
_	tear	G. zahre (f.)	tear.
_	an-(gc-)weald	G. ge-walt (f.)	pou er
Fem	blæd	G. blatt (n.)	fruit, leaf.
_	nyt	G nutz (m.)	use.

L. has clivus masc. and clivum neut.; nasus is masc

Scle 6 shoe (G. schuh masc) is masc. II 2 (plur. sce 6s), or fem I.3. (plur. sce 6n O. shoon), or III. 3. (plur (ge-)sc 9.)

Page 10 —But few certain rules can be given for the genders, especially from the terminations, of which several, as -e, -u, -el, -en, -er, contain nouns of all three. To some of the rules given above the following are exceptions and there may be more set! seat, and wered host are masc., -o5 and -u5 are interchangeable, and when from an adjective, fem.; as, geógoð(-u5) youth, fiom geoug -5 after a consonant is fem. chiefly when from an adjective, as, strengð from strang; otherwise sometimes neut as, morð murder, or masc. as monð (monað) month.

Compounds in -lac are neut , in -ræden feminine.

Nouns of the 1st declension are called Simple from the simplicity of their inflection, having but four endings for the eight cases of the two numbers, and also from the close likeness of the three genders; the 2nd and 3rd declensions are termed Complex, as having in general more case-endings, and wider distinctions of gender. The former kind namer to the Gr. nouns making their dative plural in -oi, and the L. in -bus. the latter to the Gr which form it in -oig or -aig, and the L. in -is The terms Weak and Strong for Simple and Complex have greater seeming propriety when applied to other Gothic tongues, Gr. and L. for instance, than to A. S, since in the former case they in general need the help of another syllable to form their inflection, while A. S. needs only -n, and in the latter they have oftener the power of forming their cases without an additional syllable, than the A. S. has Gr. and L. synonyms sometimes correspond with the A S in declension as well as in meaning and etymon, thus, simple ouc, aur-is, ear-e, o-vou-a, nom-en, nam-a; hom-o, gum-a, complex: έργ-ον, we orc, πυργ-ος, burh; via, weg, vir, wer Some nouns have both forms without a change of meaning, as, heofon, heofone heaven, mann, manna man, beów, beówa slave, some with, as, mús month (animate), músa mouth (inanimate), see List III above, lufu and lufe are sometimes used indifferently, but usually the former stands for love, affection (amor), the latter for love, sake (gratia) Godes lufu love of God; for sumes godes lufan for the sake of some good

Page 11.—The neuter is placed first in the declension of nouns, adjectives, and pronouns, as the simplest and purest form of the word, the masculine next as agreeing with it usually in three or four cases out of the five, and the feminine last as generally unlike both. The accusative stands next after the nominative as agreeing with it always in the neut., and sometimes in the masc, while in the fem. it is derived from it; the ablative next as in some words derived from the accus, and the genitive after the dative as sometimes derived from it, and last of all, as being in neuters and masculines in general most changed from the nominative. This applies more or less to Gr., L., G. &c. in A. S. it is more apparent in complex than in simple nouns, more stillant the indefinite inflection of adjectives, and most of all in demonstrative pronouns. As regards the genders, twa, ba, and bree are noticeable exceptions.

Page 13.—The plural ending -an (G. -en) became in time -en which in ox-en (ox-an) is yet rightly used, hos-en (hos-a), and P. hous-en (hus), and furz-en (fyrs-as) are wrong. To brethr-en (brotz-u), and children (cildr-u) too it has been wrongly added; O. was child er still in P use see p 18, n. 3. Chick-en (G. kuch en) whence chick i shortcued, is no more a plural than maid-en or vix-en, see p 66

Proper names in -a whether A S. or foreign are thus declined, as Goti Guth, Beda, Anna Europa follows the L. making accus. Europam, dat ind gen Europe (the medieval form of Europæ) Donua Danube (G Doniu, well called by Milton Donaw), and sometimes Sicilia and the like ire not declined. There are no A S. fem names in a, all nouns in -i being mase, those now so written end either in a consonant or in u, (II 3 or III.3), as, Mæbhild, Ead gifu, since latinised to Mathilda, Edgica. Other foreign names sometimes the the L cases except the vocative, as, II e ge-scah Simonem he saw Simon. Fram Decapolis from Decapolis lacobus Zebede: James (san) of Zebedie. Lazarus giut' La ains come foith' Viscolines ending in a consonant often follow II 2, as, Salomon, Salomones, Salomone, Petrus, Petic, and the like

The now anomalous relatives in -ens of some G simple nouns, as heizens, num-ens, will ens heb-ens (wurdig), are delived from the Goth gen, huit-ins, nam ins (L nom inis) wilj-ins &c. A S he of tan, nam-an, will-an, lufan. Glaub ens is the oils ben of this kind which had a nom in en, glauben, (complex) Goth gallaubeins, A S (simple) ge-leafa. Herz-e (Goth hairto A S he orte) is still in P. and pretical use other G simple nouns as heri (A S hearra) have lost the finil vowel. Feminines have in general lost the oblique -n in the singular, except in some phrases, as auf erden (on carth), voi freuden (for joy) &c. Many feminines and a few masculines properly complex now form the plutal in n, and in general the two orders have come to be much mixed.

Page 15 - Nouns in -e (II 2) sometimes keep the e in the plural; as, end-eas, end-eam &c

Fre 6 nd and fe ond being originally participals, derived, the former from fre ogan (G freien) to court, honour, the latter from a lost verb akin to fah hostile (whence foe), properly made the nomand accurating and plus alike, but in time came to be inflected as 11 2.

It is only in monosyllables before one consonant that m is changed to a, otherwise not, as, westm, pl. westmas (fruit) meer, pl. meeras, meras: thus too in adjectives; smml, pmt smale, smalor, but fest, pmt feste, festor and the like.

Feld and ford originally belonged to III 2; feld-u, ford-u like au n-u

Page 17 —H and belongs to a lost class of complex feminines in -u hand-u

Page 20 — Weedla poor litherto called an adjective having the definite inflection only, seems rather a noun (1 2) a beggar; weedlian to beg pearfa poor is commonly if not always used as a noun—a poor man wan a manting seems indeclinable.

Page 24.—The comparative and superlative endings -or, -ost (-oste), and er, -est (-este) are sometimes used indifferently, but it would seem that the former oftener follows, o, and u, the latter e, ι_{\bullet} or y. see addit note on ρ 42

Page 25 —Several of these adjectives form adverbs regularly in -e and -lice (p 70) as lang-e, langlice, strang-e, strang-lice, hræd-lice, hcag-e, hca-lice, cab-e, cab-e, cab-elice, sceort-lice, soft-e, y fel-e, ly tl-e

Page 26.—Lesser for less is as wrong as least-est for least would be, or as wors-er for worse is Lest is (||y|-|) we s(-||e|), t being added as in agains-t &c. The ending -mest has no connexion with mest most, though it also has become -most our upper-most, after-most &c. have arisen from the wrong notion that most was added to the comparative

Page 27.—Ye is therefore the true nom., you the accus. &c. "If any man say ought to you, ye shall saye"

Page 29 — Mine and thine are therefore the older forms, from which my and thy are shortened; the former were long retained before vowels.

Page 30.—Pissere and bissers are older forms than bloss and bisse.

Page 32.—The á- in á-wiht &c. must not be confounded with the common prefix a- for on-, an- (p 73), á is even uye, άει, Goth. áiw-, G. je, whence alwv, Goth. áiws, L. wvum, aye, eternity A'- or ág- (p. 65) gives a general sense like G. je, in je-mand some one, á-h wær some-, any-, every-where, á-h wæn ne some time, any time, P. some-when, any-when: with the negative it becomes na never, no, ná-li wider no-uhither ná-wiht is more regulai than nán-wiht. A'w be r and áber (if true readings) are contractions of á-h wæber, and = £65 er, £g-h wæber náwber is náh wæber = L ne-uter, hence rightly comes O and P. nother neither has arisen from either.

Page 33.—Our one and a are both descended from an, in an before a vowel the n has been restored, most languages use the same word in both senses: in A. S. sum is commoner for the article than an.

Page 37 - Verbs of the first conjugation are called Simple from the simplicity of their inflection, and its likeness in the three classes, or Weak as needing the help of another syllable to form their imperfect; those of the second and third are termed Complex from the various changes of vowel &c. they undergo, and the greater diversity of their classes, or Strong, as having in themselves the power of forming their imperfect. The analogy of the A.S simple with the Gr. contracted verbs, and the L. 1st, 2nd, and 4th conjugations, and of the A S. complex with the Gr. regulars, and L. 3rd conj. is worthy of attention Some of the Gr. and L. synonyms agree in conjugation, as well as in meaning and etymology with the A. S., as, simple: ceall-ian, καλ-εειν, cal-are to call; tem-ian, δαμ-αειν, dom-are to tame; lix-an, L. luc-ere to shine complex, graf-an, γραφ-ειν, to (en-) grave, write, brec-an, ony-eir, frang-eir, to break, ter-an, reip-eir, ter-ere to tear &c.; flow-an, flu-ere to flow, drag-an, trah-ere to draw, drag Simple verbs are now in E. and G. usually called regular, complex irregular; in both many complex verbs have in course of time become simple, and this change is still going on. Thus bake, sleep, leap, sweep, weep, fare, wield, fold, step, starve, creep, reek, lye wreak, dive, shove, row, flow, snoullow, brook &c from A S complex forms have become simple. others are in a fair way to do so, retaining only a complex imperf. or part, past, some of which are either gone or going out of use, as, hung, hore, stood, shove, clomb, glode, bet, shod; waxen, hewn, laden, graven, shapen, washen, strewn, holpen, bursten, foughten, swollen &c

G walten (to vulc), wallen (to boil), sahen (to sow), krahen (to crow), kauen (to vhew), wachen (to watch), wathen (to wate), reuen (to rue) lachen (to laugh), as also most of the E. synonyms, have become simple, others, as backen (to bake), haven (to hew), sieden (to seethe) &c. are in the transition state. A few E. verbs from A. S. I. 2., and I. 3 have assumed imperfects (but not participles past) of a seeming complex form, as, meet, met, lead, led, send, sent, build, built, from métan, lædan, sendan, byldan. A very few A. S. icrbs have both forms without change of meaning, as, bringan, bringe, brothe, broth, or bringe, brang, brungen; the latter however is rure.

Page 38 - Attention should be paid to the quantity of the complex or strong imperfects, both as compared with that of the present, and as to whether it is long throughout, or short throughout, or short in the first and thud persons singular, and long in the 2nd, and the whole plural, or long in the first and third pers., and short in the rest. Thus II. 2. from presents some short, some long, and II. 3 from presents all short, make it long throughout, except some doubtful in the former: as, healde, heold, heolde &c drage, droh &c has the present short, and the imperf. short throughout with a change of vowel, binde, band, bunde, band, bundon. II 1 short in the pres. has the imperf. snort and long, brece, biæc, bráce, bræc, brácon, except the f vm ea, as, geaf, geafe &c. together with com, come &c, and nam, name &c which are short throughout. III. 2. and III. 3. with long pres. have the imperf long and short with a change of vowel, drife, draf, drife. drát, drifon, cluse, cleaf, cluse, cleaf, cluson. Complex participles past are all short but some of 11 2 like I. 2.; as, fyligan to follow, imperf.fyligde, imper fylig, but part past fyligd see p. 42.

Page 42.—There seem to have been originally two distinct classes of verbs in -ian, both now included in I 1., the one forming its imperfand part, past in -ode, -od, the other in -ede, -ed, the former answering closely to the Gr contracted verbs, and the L in -avi. -atus, evi, et-us, and -īvi, īt-us, the latter to the L in -ui, īt-us &c. In time -ode, od were shortened, and then came to be confounded with -ede, -ed, many verbs being found with both forms, -ode, -od however seems to occur oftenest when the root-vowel is a, o, or u, - de, ed when it is e, i, or y; see addit note on p 25: -ade, -ad is a modification of -ode, -od. The -de, -ed (-d) of I. 2 3, is contricted from -ede, -ed, I. 1.; when the d is thus brought next a hird consonant it becomes t.

The characteristic c is not changed if I, n. oi s stand before it, as, elec (delay) imperf. elete, dience (diench) drenete, wisce (nush) wiscte, unless then be diopt, as in pince, púlite, and the like it else commonly (in simple verbs) becomes h, as in tace, p. 42, &c

Page 43 — The original form of the 2nd and 3id persons sing of I 2, 3, II. and III. was hyrest, hyres, tellest, telles, brecest, breces, healdest, healdest, dragest, dragest, bindest, bindest, drifest, drifest, clufest, clufest and the like, which often occur, especially in poetry. the shortened and modified forms hyrst, hyrs, telst, briest &c. given in the grammar are more modern, and commonest in prose

Page 44.—All verbs seem at first to have formed their 1st pers pressin -0 or -u; comp. - ω and L. -o. haf o = L hab-eo

Page 50 — Most of the verbs in II. 2., and some in II. 3 are derived from the Goth reduplicative verbs, which repeat the long syllable, the A. S has kept only what may be called the literal augment, and that in but a few verbs; as, héht, leóle, reórd, from hátan, lácan (to play, deceve), rædan (G. ieden to discourse), where the Goth-has hái-háit, lái-láik, rái-ród from háitan &c. Some only alter be vowel, as sceape, sceóp, where the Goth has sái-skáp.

Page 54.—Verbs in -an form their part. pres. in -ande; slean, sleande.

Page 58.—Writan is an exception to the general rule that complex verbs change 5 into d in the 2nd pers. sing., and in the plural of the imperf, and in the past part.. see cwetan p 50, we or 5 an p 57, and se6 5 an p 60, which are all regular.

Page 62—Complex participles past sometimes agree like adjectives with a noun, sometimes do not; as. Da bing be him ge-sende warn the things that were sent him Seó óbre naman was Tate haten who by another name was hight Tate.

The part, past in the pluperfect is sometimes governed in the accus, by the auxiliary hashban, as, pi hig hasfdon hyra lof-sang ge-sungenne when they had sung their song of praise.

Page 63 —Un- sometimes, as in G., is not merely negative, but implies badness, un-peak w bad habit, un-weder (G. un ge-witter) storm, bad weather

The prefix to- must be carefully distinguished from the preposition to in composition, as, to-gán to go asunder, separate, tó-ián to go to, G zer gehen, zu-gehen. to- implies division, dispersion of parts, and hence often destruction.

Page 64—For- gives in general a negative or bad sense, or is intensive, much like κατα-, déman to judge, for-deman to condemn, κρινειν, κατα-κρινειν, G. ur theilen, ven-urtheilen, bennen to burn, for-bernan to burn up, consume, καιειν, κατα-κει ιν, G. brennen, ver-brennen; dón to do, make, for-dón to un-ruin, destroy, scyppan to form, for-scyppan to transform form; for-fela very many. This picht must not be confounded the the prepositions for and fore, (probably of the same origin, = 1 pro). thus for-seón is to over-look, de-spise, G ver-sehen, to -veón, fore-seón to fore-see. G. vor-sehen; for-gán to for-go, do a thout, prish, G. ver-gehen, L. per-ire, fore-gán to fore-go. go before, G. vor-gehen, L. præ-ire. It is as wrong to write fore-go for for-go, as fore-give for for-give.

And-answers closely to αντι-, denoting opposition, reciprocity &c.; and-saca denier, und-wyrdan, and-wallian, αντι-ερείν to answer. and-wlitan, αντι βλεπείν, to gaze at, look in the face.

The prefix ge- is in A S used oftener and more indiscriminately than in any kindled language old or new. Though originally conveying no notion of past time, it seems gradually to have acquired it, and to have become a kind of syllabic augment to imperfects, but especially to participles past, as in Dutch and German. In the formation of Inglish it was by degrees dropt before all but participles past, where it first became i- or y-, and has since been lost altogether, surviving only as a- in some P, words. In G and D it is still in use before nouns, adjectives &c, but in general with a distinct effect on their meaning, referible to its original collective force. A S ge- sometimes denotes the result of doing a thing, as, Ge-sloh bin fader iwh du m was to thy father by striking arenged the greatest of fends. His fear h ge-far an odde ge-ii nan to save his life by going or running (to a sanctuary).

Page 65.—The prefix or- (left out in the right place) denotes want of a thing; as, or-mate im-mense, measure less, or-trúwlan to de-spair, or-soll cure-less, se-cure it must not be confounded with or- in or-cald very old, (G ur-alt), from or, ord beginning, point, connected with L or-ior, or-igo &cc.

The primary meaning of -ing is young, and hence it forms patronymics, and terms of contempt &c.: -ling has been supposed to be derived from -ing.

Page 66.—Other feminines in -en aie menn-en from man, G. mann, mannin; gyd-en from god. G gott, gott-in, D. god, god-in m -e, fyl-e, filly, from fol-a foal, wal-e from wealh or wal-a, Celt, stranger, webb-e (or webb-eatie web-ster), from webb-a weaver.

The ending -estre (like D -ster) is feminine only, and the notion of thus forming nouns of contempt &c., us pun-ster, trick-ster, road-ster is modern.

The ending dom is properly a noun (II. 2) doom, judgment, authority, dignity had is also a noun (II. 2.) state, condition, rank, Holy Orders.

Page 67 —-scipe (not occurring alone) is related to scapin, (seeapan), to shape form, create, and denotes form, mode, condition; land-scape, or land-skip, (land-scipe) G land-schift, D. land-schap, should in rule be land-ship, unless borrowed, like a few other words, directly from the Dutch.

The adjective ending -ig answers to ik-of, L -ic-us.

Page 68 —A. S. -ise had often a bad sense, which E., G., and D. -ish, -isch, -sch almost always have, except when added to local names; the three former often contrast with his, -like or -ly, G. -lich, which convey a good or indifferent notion, as, fole-ise vulgar (Chaucer has pepl-ish), fole-lie popular, cild-ise child-ish, G. kind-isch cild-lie child-like, G. kind-lich, compare also mann-ish, man-like, man-ly, G. mann-isch, mann-lich, momen-ish, woman-ly, G. weib-isch, weib-lich; quil-ish, maulen-iy, No.

While -ol (-ul) answers it form to L. -ul-us, in sense it is more like ax, commonly denoting a wrong properties, is, spree-ol, ewid-ol, L. loqu-ax, die-ax talk itue evil-tongued, et-ol, L ed-ax greedy. Sometimes as in sód-sig-ol trath-telling, deóp panc-ol deep-thinking, it expresses a good quality

-en (G. -ern, an) usually denotes the material of which a thing is made; as, stan-en of stone, G. stein-ern, treó wen treen, wood-en; gyld-en gold-en, G. gold-en, lin-en lin-en, of lin or flax. G. lein-en; from stan, treów, gold, lin. Several words thus formed are now opsolete, ston-en, bruk-en &c. are still in P. use.

-cund answers to L. -cund-us

Some adjectives are formed in -ed or -d like simple participles past, as, ge-hy ried horn-ed, (G. ge-hoin-t), ge-sceod shod (G. ge-schuh-t); the rest of the verb, if any, is here wanting.

Page 69 ----c-, -n-, -s-, in these and the like verbs represent lost st.lables; therefore swin-s-ian (to make melody) is no exception to the rule against ns in the same syllable, see p 2 n. 1.

The verbal endings -ian and -an (-\(\epsilon\), G and D. -an) became 11 time -en and -e, the latter of which has in many cases been dropt, in all has lost its sound. Such verbs as whit-en, black-en are of modern use, to white and the like being the older form

Page 71—Other adverbs in common use are. & aye, always, æfre (G. and D. immer) ever, næfre (G. and D. nimmer) never, ædre straightway, recene instantly, eft-sona eft-soon, forth-with, end emes at length, bær-ribte (foi 5-ribte) forthwith, elles else, otherwise, elles-hwider else-whither, ellor elseuhere, bus (D dus) the georne (G. gerne) earnestly, willingly, bearle very, exceeding, geara well, accurately, (lyt-)hwon a little (S a wheen), huí u (hwegu), hwæt-(hwylc)-hugu &c. somewhat, a little, bances gratis, ágnes bances of one's own accord, his &c willan, unwillan with, against his &c. will, semning a suddenly, hræding a quickly, áning a (æning a) alone, only, on bæc-ling backward. Sona is construed with a genitive; as, Sona bæs soon after that.

Page 72.—It seems likely that the first part of the word Oxena-ford is not from ox, but from the Celtic root meaning water, river, (A. S. was is ooze, liquid) which appears in Ouse (many) Isis, Ex, Ax, Usk, Esk, Oise, Aisne, Yssel, Osus, and so many other names of rivers, and this is confirmed by Ousn-ey in the neighbourhood. Ford of oven is however the strict meaning of the A. S. name, and doubtless the one then attached to it, Bog-mopog, Schwein-fart, Swin-ford and the like supply fair analogies.

Ofer-sometimes conveys the same idea as for-; ofer-gitan = for-gitan) to forget, ofer-hycgan = for-hycgan to despise.

Of-beside its intensive force (p. 105. n 2.) sometimes has a bad one, as, me bined me thinks, me of-bined it repenteth me. I take it ill.

Page 73.—Our prefix a- has in general sprung from the A. S. on-(an-, a-), and on is still sometimes used for it, as, a-float, A. S. on-flote, a-live, A. S. on-life (G am leben), a-live (in-two), A. S. on-twa, a-feared, A. S. a-fered, O on flote, on life, on two, also on sleep, on now &c. now a-sleep &c, we yet say on board, or a-board, on fire, or a-fire and the like see also p. 69—71, 73

In some words a- is from A S. of-, as, of-dûne (a-dûne, a-dûn) a-down (\Longrightarrow G berg-ab), of-byrst a-thirst, we say too of kin or a-kin, it is therefore not unlikely that in other cases A S. a-may, as the sense would imply, have spring from of-, thus a-faran to depart, a-wendan to turn away, a-weoipan to cast aff, answer to G ab-fahren, and G and D ab-wenden, ai-wenden, ab-werfen, ai-weipen so $\dot{a}\pi o$, $\dot{a}\pi'$ became L ab, and that in time a Once or twice E a- is from A S ge-, as gelic (O y-like), a-like, ge-mang O e-mong), a-mong

Page 77.—Adjectives also take an abl. or dat. of the cause &c., which commonly stands first, us, I ú-d é d u m f ú h stained with (my) former deeds. Wundum wêrig weary with wounds

Likewise of the person &c by whom the action implied is done, as, Illis freondum or-wene despaired of by his friends Wurk-iell bam cyningum to be honoured by kings Un-a-secgendly any

Adjectives in general govern the object to which they have relation in the dative, as, Ic com getty we minon hlaf-orde I am true to my lord. He was me were he was angry with mu. Divhten was pam folce gram (the) Lord was wroth with the people

Adjectives denoting nearness also govern the dative; as, A'n bis cop be him bá hendest was a bishop that was then nearest (handwil) to him.

Some adverbs take the same case as the adjectives whence they are formed Nánig him gelice bæt dón meahte none could do that like him

Page 79 .- The following verbs also govern the dative of the far onject: seegan to say, tell, bodian to preach, announce, be dan to offer, and-wyrdan, and-swarian to answer, gifan to onve. for-gifan to give away, forgue, syllan to give, sell (of which examples need not be given), widen etan to compare, measure with. ge-an-lician to liken, make like, yrsian to be angry with, atfilhan to approach, apply to, wisian (wissian) to guide, direct. fore-wesan (L præ-esse) to govern, be over, be-sårgian to pity, be sorry for, have a dative of the near object, losian to be lost. escape from, one of the person affected, as, Hire fær is widmeten fyrd-licum truman her going is compared to an army on the march. Ic com yelum and axum ge-un-licod I am made like cinders and ashes Se-be yrsad his broder he that is angry with his brother No ic him bas georne as feath I dul not therefore willingly approach him. Dost hig minion bam force wel wissian that they might guide the people well. Midþy heó þá feula geura þissum mynstre fore-wæs when she the many years had ruled this convent. Du be-sargode he bere sorh-fullan meder then putied he the sorrowful mother. Him losade án sceáp he had lost one sheep
